

Healthy Child Care Hawaii (HCCH) invites you to join us for:

HOT TOPICS, 2016:

Hurricanes, Tsunami, Snarled Traffic – Oh My!

Is your center prepared?

Learning how to cope with stress, particularly brought on by a catastrophic natural event, is an important part of healthy child development. Preparing an environment of supportive planned experiences with children and their families before, during and after an emergency can create a strong foundation for positive outcomes and helps children develop skills that will make them stronger, happier, and more resilient in an emergency.

Please join us to:

- Learn basic disaster preparedness and emergency planning for child care
- Be familiar with Caring for Our Children – Standard 9.2.4.3
go to: <http://cfoc.nrckids.org/StandardView/9.2.4.3>
- Examine the elements of a written disaster plan for your center
- Review examples of disaster policies and procedures for preparedness that will best support the children and families in your center
- Receive Take Away Tips for Teachers: How to Talk to Children about Emergencies and Tips for Preschools on Disaster Planning

Target Audience: Early education and care providers and their health consultants. Following are the dates for this Hot Topics seminar. The curriculum for each seminar is the same, so select the date, time and location that is most convenient for you.
