

Rural Communities Healthcare Infrastructure Transformation (RCHIT)

This program administers the State Offices of Rural Health grant, which is funded by the Health Resources and Services Administration Office of Rural Health Policy.

What We Do

- Collect and disseminate rural health information
- Coordinate rural health resources and activities statewide in collaboration with other public and private organizations
- Provide technical assistance to meet rural community health needs
- Conduct activities to encourage recruitment and retention of health professionals in rural areas
- Work to strengthen state, local, and federal partnerships
- Plan, organize, coordinate, implement, and evaluate rural health projects, particularly those that build capacity in rural communities. This includes providing sub-grants to project partners and providing oversight and guidance to ensure deliverables are timely and adequate
- Develop, coordinate, and provide technical assistance on grant proposals and other funding mechanisms to enhance community rural health capabilities
- Review and develop county, state, and federal rural policy initiatives to support rural health goals
