

IMMUNIZATION. POWER TO PROTECT.

A shield-shaped emblem with a white outline. Inside the shield, there is a cartoon illustration of two children. On the left is a boy with short brown hair, wearing a green t-shirt, making a 'shaka' hand gesture. On the right is a girl with long brown hair, wearing an orange t-shirt, with a white flower in her hair. The background of the shield is a solid blue color.

Immunizations. Defend your keiki against serious childhood diseases, like measles and whooping cough (pertussis), with the safe, proven protection of vaccines. Talk to your child's health care provider about vaccines for your family.

Help them fight diseases with the most powerful defense.
