RADIATION LICENSE REQUIREMENT

The Administrative Rule on Radiation Control, Chapter 11-45, requires a Radiation Facility License for all facilities with electronic ionizing radiation-producing machines before installation, possession, or use of such radiation sources. Radiation facilities must ensure services are provided by properly licensed service entities before services are rendered.

A Radiation Services License is required for all entities, which sell, lease, install, or service electronic ionizing radiation-producing equipment, or provide health physics services or medical services before such services are rendered to radiation facilities. Radiation service entities must ensure radiation facilities are properly licensed before services are rendered.

Please note that the Department no longer licenses the possession or use of any radioactive materials. Licenses for radioactive materials may be obtained from the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. Information can be found on their website at <http://www.nrc.gov/>

A completed Application for Radiation Facility or Radiation Service License with the appropriate fee should be submitted sixty days before intended possession of sources of radiation or provision of radiation services.

If you require an application or additional information, please visit our website at <http://health.hawaii.gov/irhb/radforms/> or contact the Radiation Section at (808) 586-4700.
