Hoapili Hale Employee Tests Positive for COVID-19

An employee at Hoapili Hale, the Wailuku courthouse, has tested positive for COVID-19. The employee last worked on Dec. 1, 2020 and received a confirmed positive test result on Dec. 7, 2020. DOH has advised those with prolonged or frequent contact with the affected individual to self-quarantine and seek guidance from their medical providers. They'll return to work when they're medically cleared. The areas where the person worked are cleaned regularly, but out of an abundance of caution, the areas received additional disinfecting.
