

USING BARE HAND CONTACT WITH READY-TO-EAT FOODS

ALTERNATIVE OPERATING PROCEDURES

Hawaii Administrative Rules (HAR) 11-50 prohibits bare hand contact with ready-to-eat (RTE) foods. The public health concern associated with handling RTE foods with bare hands is the possible contamination of these foods with harmful bacteria and viruses that can get transferred to food from hands, causing foodborne illness.

Food establishments may handle RTE foods with bare hands if they submit written procedures that meet all the requirements stated in HAR 11-50-32(a)(5)(A)-(G) and are approved by the Department of Health.

This checklist is intended to provide guidance to ensure food establishment have all the required information to develop their written procedures.
