Presentation

The Hawai'i Alcohol Policy Alliance

The Problem

- Excessive alcohol drinking costs our State nearly 1 Billion dollars per year
- 1 out of 3 traffic fatalities in Hawai'i involve alcohol-impaired drivers
- Hawai'i ranked 6th highest DUI fatality rate in the nation.

Link to NHTSA roundtable part 1:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lfleov2aM8U&t=3837s>

What is a BAC?

- Blood alcohol concentration, also referred to as BAC, refers to the percent of alcohol in a person's blood stream. A BAC of 0.10% means that a person's blood supply contains one part ethyl alcohol for every 1000 parts of blood. In Hawai'i, drivers over 21 test as legally impaired to drive a vehicle at 0.08% BAC.

Why lower the BAC?

This environmental strategy is backed by numerous studies that show:

- 1) There are significant signs of impairment at a 0.05 BAC
- 2) Lowering to 0.05 BAC reduces drinking and driving and the related consequences.

Evidence-based Solution

BAC is a low-cost, effective deterrent strategy.

- NHTSA evaluation shows 19.8% drop in fatal car crashes as a result of lowering the BAC from .08% to .05%
- Consistent evidence of countries who moved from .08 to .05 saw at least a 5%-8% and up to 18% decrease in fatal and injury crashes
- It lowers drinking and driving for all BAC levels

Link to NHTSA's evaluation:

<https://www.nhtsa.gov/press-releases/utah->

Approximately 100 countries have adopted .05 BAC, including most industrialized nations. Australia, New Zealand, and much of Europe is already at .05 or lower.

Evidence-based Solution

Myth-Busting

- Lowering the BAC from .08% to .05% had no effect on alcohol sales
- Hospitality industry uses 'safer roads' to promote tourism in their State.
- No significant uptick in arrests rates when .05 was established in Utah

Link to NHTSA roundtable part 2:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EtQGxXkdXMk&t=4s>

National Support and State Momentum

- Advocacy groups that are supportive of the 0.05 bill in their state include:
  - 0.05 Saves Lives Coalition
  - AAA
  - Advocates for Highway and Auto Safety
  - Coalition of Ignition Interlock Manufacturers
  - Connecticut Department of Transportation
  - Governor's Highway Safety Association (GHSA)
  - Liam's Life Foundation
  - Mother's Against Drunk Driving (MADD)
  - National Safety Council
  - Washington Traffic Safety Commission (WTSC)
- Other States introducing 0.05 include:
  - Hawai'i, Connecticut, North Carolina, New York, Washington

Sober Driving Advocates Continue to Introduce Legislation to Lower Hawai'i's Legal Blood Alcohol Concentration Level for Driving

Sober driving advocates will once again introduce legislation this session seeking to lower Hawai'i's legal BAC level for driving from .08 to .05. This is the 4th consecutive session that the Hawai'i Alcohol Policy Alliance (HIAPA) has supported such a bill.

Hundreds of Citizen Turn Out for Opening Day of Hawai'i Legislature.

The Hawaii Alcohol Policy Alliance (HIAPA or The Alliance) plans to oppose bills this session that advance alcohol industry-initiated bills. It's concerned about the impact of changes in alcohol regulations for their financial gain at the expense of the public's well-being," according to its spokesperson.

Governor Vows to Support Lower Drunken Driving Levels in Hawai'i

Gov. Josh Green plans a full-court offensive to convince hesitant legislators to finally lower Hawai'i's blood alcohol content level to .05% from .08% after previous bills failed. The issue is personal for Green, America's only sitting governor who is also a medical doctor. As an emergency room physician in Kona, Green treated patients who were injured by drunken drivers, along with intoxicated drivers who insisted they were not drunk.
